ABOUT THIS DIRECTORY

Pro Arts Jersey City is pleased to present this current edition of the Hudson County Arts Organizations Directory. Hudson County's vibrant art scene offers a tremendous variety of cultural events at locations throughout the county. This guide includes information on museums, arts organizations, exhibition and performance spaces and art education centers, all located in Hudson County. A downloadable PDF is available at www.proartsjerseycity.org

The directory is a complimentary online service funded through a grant from Provident Bank and the Hudson County Office of Cultural & Heritage Affairs under the authority of Hudson County Executive Thomas A. DeGise and the Hudson County Board of Chosen Freeholders. Inclusion in this directory was offered without charge to arts organizations, and venues residing or operating in Hudson County.

As a work in progress, and reflecting the ongoing evolution of the Hudson County Art scene, this directory will be continuously updated online. We will continue outreach to secure our goal of maintaining a comprehensive listing of arts organizations.

The information in this directory was provided, selected, and completed a representative of each organization. It includes pertinent information such as organizational name, website address, contact information, mailing address, and primary arts discipline.

The reader is reminded that the brief descriptions, provided by the organization, are offered as a sampling only of the organization's scope. Most, if not all of the listed organizations have offerings and accomplishments far greater than we can include in this directory. Please contact individual organizations for details. To those individuals, organizations, and institutions that will use this directory as a resource for the arts community for future projects, events, and exhibitions we urge you to consider Hudson County's many talented artists in your plans. They are the backbone of every organization listed here.

This directory is always open to applications. Please call or e-mail Pro Arts Jersey City to correct or edit any entry or add a new organization to the list.
